FUSION CLAIM OF HOUSE MAJORITY SEEMS JUSTIFIED

Patterson Democrats Probably Have Majority In State Senate.

Hooper's Majority Is Slightly Over 12,000.

RETURNS COMING IN SLOWLY.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 16.—Official returns of ninety-six counties in the state give Hooper a total of 106,463 and Taylor a total of 90,413. This gives Hooper a majority of 16,050.

According to previously reported majorities, the other sixteen counties give a net majority for Taylor of 3,383, which would make the net Hooper majority in the state 12,667.

In eighty counties from which official returns have been received the total Enlow vote was 103,022 and the total for Thomas was 83,239.

While official returns have been received from only a portion of the counties, indications are that the New Sciatar list of the legislature will be verified almost verbatim.

The Pattersonian Democrats apparently control the senate, having 19 members. Returns from the legislative races bore out the early predictions that the fusionists would certainly control the house. The control of the senate will depend on the decisions of contests or rumors of contests in several cases.

It looks as if the fusionists will have not less than 54 voters in the house and at least 14 in the senate.

The only one of the hotly contested senatorial districts which has so far reported in full is the Twenty-ninth, where Thordon and Parrish contested. On the face of the returns Parrish won by 97 votes.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—Firemen narrowly escaped death in a fire that destroyed 4 four-story buildings of the Thompson Piano company here today. They were trapped in one structure by a back draught. They were rescued, almost suffocated, through an opening in a lock wall.

RUSSELL BOUND OVER FOR HOUSEBREAKING

Tom Russell, the young white man who was arrested Saturday night by Patrolmen Shelton and Ogilvie on a charge of housebreaking, was this morning bound over to the circuit court grand jury and his bail fixed at $300. He went to the county jail in default of bond. Monday Russell was fined $25 and sentenced to 10 days' imprisonment in the county jail for carrying concealed a pistol. He was granted an appeal from the judgment in police court. Russell is alleged to have entered the wholesale grocery of Miles-Gnedry & company. He was represented by Attorney David Browning.

Memphis Methodist Conference Convenes at Broadway Church at 9 O'Clock--Gets Down to Business

Interesting Debate Over Prorogative of Secretary--Mr. Meaders Protests Against Practice.

With a splendid attendance the seventy-first annual session of the Memphis conference of the Episcopal church, south, was inaugurated this morning in the Broadway Methodist church with Bishop W. A. Candler, of Atlanta, Ga., presiding.

The church was well crowded with the delegates and visitors, including a number of women who graced the conference. The business session moved off this morning rapidly, and adjournment was taken shortly after 12 o'clock. This afternoon the numerous committees are in session, while Bishop Candler met the presiding elders this afternoon. This evening the anniversary of the Sunday school board will be held, with an address by Dr. H. M. Hamill, of Nashville. Tomorrow morning the business session will be held.

The conference was called to order this morning at 9 o'clock by Bishop Candler, who conducted the devotional exercises. After a hymn Bishop Candler led in prayer, and following a scripture reading from the sixteenth chapter of Matthew, emphasizing the fact that God erects his church upon a rock and a firm foundation.

Bishop Candler delivered an address to the conference this morning and won the hearts of all the delegates and visitors by his splendid address. It was sane and filled with appropriate thoughts, while his enjoyable manner of delivering the address kept all the delegates on the alert and not a word was wasted.

He said that God's church was permanent and substantial, but that it was not time for the laborers to cease work, as it is still in the process of building. He advocated a revival of the personal experience as the best method of becoming acquainted with God. He said that personal experience was necessary to prevent initiates as well as church members from becoming too routine. To experience personal experience he said was more accurate than to receive a definition from the learned men.

During his address Bishop Candler advised the pastors if they desire to be sent to any especial station to notify the presiding elders at once, and not delay until after the list of appointments is read. If possible he said that the request of every pastor would be gratified, but he announced in firm tones that he would not hold any adjourned sessions.

Bishop Candler has all the qualifications of a brilliant speaker. He has the necessary force, ability, gift of language, eloquence, thoughts and a keen wit that have won for him the admiration of all the delegates.

After a second song the roll call was called and 146 clerical delegates and 14 lay delegates announced present. After the roll call it was not necessary to substitute any alternates, as all of the regular delegates responded.

Interesting Debate.

With the election of a secretary the first spicy part of the business session was reached. The Rev. A. J. Meaders, of Trenton, Tenn., was elected as secretary for 16 sessions and he was the unanimous choice of the delegates when his name was placed in nomination without opposition. Before his election, however, Mr. Meaders arose and read a grievance. Until the last conference the secretary had compiled and published the minutes, having charge of the financial arrangements. However, at the conference at Greenfield, Tenn., last year the rule was changed so that the publishing of the minutes was placed in the hands of the joint finance board. Mr. Meaders said that he considered it a reflection and he declined to accept the secretaryship under the condition.

All the delegates were surprised and immediately statements were made, declaring that it was not the intention to reflect upon Mr. Meaders and explaining that it was solely for a business reason. W. S. Coulter, chairman of the board, said that it was not a reflection. G. W. Wilson, W. A. Freeman and J. H. Roberts gave assurance that it was not intended as a reflection upon Mr. Meaders. Mr. Wilson made a motion that the grievance be referred to the joint finance board, provided that Mr. Meaders would accept the temporary secretaryship. B. S. Peeler made the motion that the former rule be restored and the secretary have charge of the financial arrangements. This received a second and Dr. W. T. Bolling opposed the motion, stating that it would be

Rev. W. J. Naylor Will Leave Circuit

While the problem of the church and city life is concerning the pulpit, Paducah circuit this year will lose a pastor, who is a close student of the church in its relation to country life, when the Rev. W. J. Naylor, according to the four year custom of the Methodist church, is sent to another field by this conference. Mr. Naylor is in close touch with affairs in the county and has been an influence in its upbuilding. He found the circuit mission of the Paducah district without parsonage and utterly dependent on the conference board. He leaves it with a good parsonage at Lone Oak, completely furnished, a $2,000 church there, and a good church, which he built at Tyler, and transferred to the Heidland circuit. He has added 237 members to the circuit in the four years, and the circuit this year, besides meeting all conference dues, paid the pastor and presiding elder $875. Mr. Naylor joined the conference on trial at Dyersburg, Tenn., in November, 1882, and was appointed a member of the joint board of finance in 1890, and with the exception of one year he has served on that board ever since, having been its secretary for fifteen years. He is also the agent for the superannuate endowment fund for this conference.

GALLOPS OVER MISSISSIPPI BY NARROW WALK ON THIMBES BRIDGE.

CSIRO, Ill., Nov. 16.—Itinerated horse thief drove a mule across the Thimble railroad bridge from Missouri to Illinois at break-neck speed on a four foot plank walk between the rails, and would have made good had not a passenger train overtaken the mule and cut off its hind legs just as he reached the Illinois approach. The negro tumbled down the embankment and escaped. The bridge over the Mississippi is high and over two miles long, low the mule, going at the speed he was, managed to keep to the narrow footing over the opening between the trees, caused those acquainted with the situation to marvel.

Answer This Question

When a remedy has lived for over thirty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their very lives to it, is it not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

We challenge the world to show any other one remedy for a special class of disease which has attained such an enormous demand and maintained it for so many years as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the famous woman's remedy for woman's ills. Unless it is a very good medicine and the claims made for it are honest, such a record would have been impossible—fraud or misrepresentations would long ago have been detected and the business gone into oblivion. Read this unsolicited letter:—

Corry, Pa.—“I am happy to write you about the benefit I received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before my marriage two years ago, I suffered something awful every month with pains and other distressing symptoms, and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in dry form. Since then I have never been troubled with pain, not even a dull backache or headache, and it has helped me a good deal before childbirth. I recommend your medicine wherever I go.”

Mrs. E. E. Ross, 112 E. Church St., Corry, Pa.

When a woman like Mrs. Ross is generous enough to write such a letter as the above for publication, she should at least be given credit for a sincere desire to help other suffering women. For we assure you there is no other reason why she should court such publicity.

We say it in all sincerity and friendship—try this medicine.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

A Good Habit to Cultivate. There is a tremendous power in the habit of expectancy, the conviction that we shall realize our ambition; that our dreams shall come true, says Orison Swett Marden, in Success Magazine. There is no uplifting habit like that of carrying an expectant, hopeful attitude, of expecting that our heart yearnings will be matched with realities; that things are going to turn out well and not ill; that we are going to succeed; that no matter what may or may not happen we are going to be happy.

There is nothing else so helpful as the carrying of this optimistic, expectant attitude—the attitude which always looks for and expects the best, the highest, the happiest—and never allowing oneself to get into the pessimistic, discouraged mood.

Believe with all your heart that you will do what you were made to do, never for an instant harbor a doubt of this. Drive it out of your mind if it seeks entrance. Enterain only the friend thought; or ideals of the thing you are bound to achieve. Reject all thought examples, all depressing moods—everything which would even suggest failure or unhappiness.

News of Theatres

“The Climax” Tonight. A drama, which hinges upon a single incident and has but four characters, with no villain and only the problem of human emotions for plot and situation, and yet, one which held supremacy on the metropolitan boards for a whole season, must contain the very essence of the drama and keep an audience spell-bound for two hours while dramatist and actors play upon the delicately responsive chords of sympathy and passion. In such a play not a single false note must be struck. In the wide sweep of melodrama and the virile plays of the west, where action is everything, the laws of probability may be violated and atoned for in an act; but, where the plot, situations and cast are concentrated, as they are in “The Climax,” which plays at The Kentucky tonight, the intensity of interest must not abate an instant. “The Climax” shows the effect of the Ibsen school on contemporary drama. While “The Climax” is of the popular order and requires no intellectual strain to grasp the subtleties of symbols, its action, coloring and dialogue are confined to a single problem. It is brilliant, absorbing and convincing. The story is told of a young woman with a remarkable voice, whose ambition is to shine on the operatic stage. Two men love her, a young physician, who desires her not to go on the stage, and her young accompanist, whose career, as well as love, are linked with hers. The old music master presents a character study of rare conception. These four comprise the cast. The girl has a throat trouble and the physician magnifies its seriousness, until, after an operation, in her highly nervous condition she is unable to sing. Eventually her voice comes back and the physician admits his duplicity. Not the least important factor in the performance is the actual singing of the woman and the accompaniment on the piano by the young musician.

This is the second season on the road for the company, which is playing return dates in the cities. Only one change has been made in the cast, that of the young woman, and the Memphis News-Sentinel yesterday said of her:

“Miss Webber is a singer of rare merit, possessing a wonderfully pure soprano voice. By virtue of this voice and by her charming personality, she captivated her audience last night.

Arthur Coglier, as Luigi Godfanti, had a most trying role, but rose above its demands and made the character all the more lovable and satisfying.”

Stock Company Tomorrow.

Hummel's Imperial Stock company will resume its run for the remainder of the week at the Kentucky tomorrow. The matinee bill will be “St. Elmo.” At night the offering will be “Queen of the White Slaves.” Vaudeville between acts is a popular feature of the show. Friday night and Saturday matinee and night performances conclude the engagement.

Next Week a Big One.

Next week will be an important one here theatrically. Monday night Al Fields' minstrels; Tuesday night, “The Spendthrift,” one of the great musicals of the present season. In New York, and Thursday night, Harold McGrahan's “The Man on the Box.”

A deck of cards has many hearts.

But never falls in love;

It has, I'm told, at times, cold hands;

That never wear a glove;

Although the deck is often cut,

You never hear it squeak;

It never complains whenever it gets

A downright shameful deal.

To draw a card, a pencil you

Will never need at all;

A hand of cards don't visit, though

It sometimes gets a call;

To hold one's temper in a game

Is very little use,

Population of New York.

New York, Nov. 16.—The chief topic for discussion in the metropolis has been the remarkable increase in New York's population as announced by the official census report; 4,736,882 souls, count 'em, are now confined within the city's five boroughs, which comprise an area of 320 square miles.

Leaving aside the figures of large cities, New York city now has a population greater than many of the countries of the world. For instance, Australia in 1908 had within its borders 4,275,306 persons, exclusive of aborigines, while Ireland last year had a population of 4,374,158. But in 1908 showed a census return of 4,158,400, and Denmark and Greece respectively had 2,659,000 and 2,602,000 subjects to their kings. Norway in the same year was populated by 2,350,786 persons and Switzerland by 3,569,000.

New York's gain in population has been as steady as it has been large. In 1900, just after the bill creating Greater New York became effective, the population of the city was 3,137,202. Five years later it had grown to 4,000,102, or at about the rate of 100,000 a year. And at the same time every one of its suburbs, not including the greater city, was growing proportionately.

New York is the first Irish city in the world. Belfast, the largest city in Ireland, has a population of only 40,000, while New York has nearly 600,000 Irishmen among its millions.

New York is the real metropolis of the Jewish race. Two years ago it had a Jewish population of 725,000, and today that has probably been increased by at least 100,000. Warsaw, in Poland, has not quite 300,000 Jews, and it is supposed that there are more Jews there than in any other one city in Europe.

And as for Germans, New York is the third German city of the world, with more than 750,000 German inhabitants. Berlin and Hamburg alone, in Germany, have greater populations of Germans than New York, by which an employee continuing to work in the world, the sixth Norwegian, the seventh Italian and the eighth Russian. Every Mother Should Read and Remember This.

In any home where a child has a tendency to croup, a bottle of HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) should be kept constantly on hand. A sudden attack of croup with difficult breathing and extreme distress is apt to come on at any time. The course to be pursued is plain. Send for your doctor at once, and in the mean time drop 30 drops of HYOMEI into a bowl of boiling water, and hold the child's head over it, cover with a towel or cloth, so that only the air filled with HYOMEI vapor is breathed.

This method of treatment has saved many a child's life, and mothers of croupy children should see to it that HYOMEI is always on hand. Full instructions for prompt relief of croup is in each package.

A 50c bottle of HYOMEI is all you need in treating croup. This is known in all drug stores as Extra bottle HYOMEI Inhalant. Gilbert's drug store and druggists everywhere sell it. Breathe HYOMEI. It is sure to cure croup, croup, sore throat, bronchitis, coughs and colds, or money back.

Probably the most important of these is the employers liability law. President Fallières of France tells of a native evangelist who knew very little English, but who was fond, none the less, of speaking publicly in the unfamiliar tongue. One Sunday he was exhorting a congregation composed chiefly of Americans and English, and started his hearers by launching forth into a prayer ending with:

"And now, good Lord, we pray Thee to protect and pickle us all the rest of our lives."

When the service was over, the ambitious linguist's attention was called to his expression, "pickle us."

"Well, what would you?" said he.

BIG OPPORTUNITIES.

Young Men, Here's An Occupation for You.

There are today few occupations a young man can take up without fear of a woman's taking the bread out of his mouth. These are: Prize fighting, ladies' tailoring, and—do not sneer, young man!—domestic service! Even prize fighting may be closed to men tomorrow if some strong-armed Vassar graduate should decide to capture the championship belt. Ladies' tailoring may entice them at any time. But, as time goes on, it becomes more and more evident that one field will never again have a woman occupant. Go into everything free! Young men, it is a vision of happiness.

Who knows, too, but that your employer's daughter may fall in love with you, and marry you, thus, when she goes into business for herself, making you happy and comfortable for life?

At all events, young men, domestic service is worth considering. It is an open field, and man can make his mark in it. Why not be a pioneer?—Delineator.

Gently Rebutted.

Not long ago a London preacher indulged in a little bit of sarcasm over a small collection. And he did it very neatly in a preface to his sermon on the following Sunday. "Brother," he said, "our collection last Sunday was a very small one. When I looked at the congregation I said to myself, 'Where are the poor? But as I looked at the collection when we counted it, I exclaimed, 'Where are the rich?'"—Argonaut.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 16.

Daily Thought.

Give us what Thou seest fit, only fit us for what Thou givest.—Rowland Williams.

Both of Edward Carmack's slayers
are alive and free; yet, who will say Carmack died in vain, or that his death was not in some measure avenged?

In one way Breathitt county puts to shame the counties of western Kentucky: Breathitt murderers must sue to save their lives, and here
they need only stand trial.

The Democratic trinity: Roger Sullivan, of Illinois; Tom Taggart, of Indiana, and Urey Woodson, of Kentucky, met at French Lick this week, and apportioned the spoils of 1912.

PROGRESS IS SLOW.

It is easy to destroy: sufficient force properly directed can break down in one day, work that required
the gradual efforts of years to build up, is equally true in statesmanship, as engineering.

All the permanent things are slow
in construction. A man's reputation is the result of years of assiduity;
the breath of scandal can take it away.

A policy of government is always a development, not a flat of a moment's consideration.

Constructive statesmanship requires experience and study; destructive statesmanship requires only force and passion. The former must be "worked out", corrected, modified and amplified. The average person has little patience with it, excepting in his own private affairs. When one talks of reducing the tariff, he thinks of congress meeting and tearing down schedules, which can be done,
of course, just as a man could do in his own business; but it would be disastrous. When one speaks of breaking up or controlling the trusts,
the average man thinks the administration should promulgate an edict declaring all trusts "busted" or something to that effect, little realizing, that if such a process were possible, it would jeopardize his own private property.

When one speaks of regulating freight rates, the shipper rather expects the interstate commerce commission to fix rates at what the shipper would have them; but the shipper would object to the same commission fixing the prices of his products at what his customers would prefer. Currency reform and postal savings banks, likewise, might be established by waving a wand, and it is the favorite pastime of the opposition party to the government to vote in congress against progressive measures and then denounce the administration for not adopting them.

Slow and sure is a good motto in governmental reform, as in all else.
A bad start is not good for reform.
The public grows impatient for the reform; but, if the reformers, urged
on to unseemly haste by the clamor, make a false step, they will find the public just as impatient with the reform as they were impatient to have
it. Most people don't think, excepting about their own private affairs,
and in them they acquire the habit of thinking only on the side, which has the butter on it.

Over against them are the fanatics,
who are always advocating impracticable or vicious measures from the most altruistic motives in the world, and forever arguing the purity of their purposes instead of the utility of their plans.

players. It has succeeded, because it has ever declined to be made a part of broad "isms" and "ologies" that flourish for a day and wither. Their progress, too, has been slow, correcting the mistakes of haste as they go.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

The Cost of Schooling in McCracken County.

Editor Sun: After reading the articles in your paper on the District
Graded schools, I went to casting up some figures which I could get in possession of and find the following results, which ought to open the eyes of every taxpayer in this county.

In the first place, it only costs the taxpayers of this county the sum of 52 1/2 cents per day for each pupil in the High school, at this time, for they are paying $10 per day for a teacher to teach 19 High school children, at the county High school, in a remote part of the county, where these have to travel from two to six miles to reach the school, and yet we are told that some of our school
officials are opposed to the district graded schools, because they will hurt the county High school by taking the money from the county board, and spending it at home within reach of every pupil in the district. Now, if this board does not know how to manage the people's money any better than that, it would be a blessing to the school interest in this county if the graded schools would kill and bury the County High school so deep that it could never be heard from again even if it has got a $10,000 house built out of the taxpayers hard earned cash down in one corner of the county, within five miles of which not ten per cent of the common school graduates live.
For the sake of higher education in McCracken county, let the thing
"go dead," if the district graded school will take its place.

Three former pastors of the Broadway Methodist church were in the altar last evening at the conference session: the Rev. R. H. Mahon, D. D., the Rev. J. H. Evans, and the Rev. G. W. Wilson. Dr. Mahon,
who preached the opening sermon
has served the church here several times as pastor. Both he and Dr.
Evans were here first in charge of the old Methodist church that stood where Gilbert's drug store now is.
The parsonage at that time was a quaint old house at Seventh and Broadway, where Wimberly's drugstore stands.

Upon the suggestion of Dr. G. T.
Sullivan, the business session of the conference will begin at 8:30 o'clock
every morning and adjourn at 12

Upon motion of R. W. Hood the memorial service for the conference will be held Friday morning at 11

mittee on conference relations for post of duty at the Belvedere hotel

after a brief illness.

"Camp" was hastily broken in the display window of the Racket store
today, when "Bobble," the cinnamon bear cub, sent to Douglas Bagby by his brother Reuben from Kettle Falls, Wyoming, began feasting on the furs, which it was his province to advertise. A miniature camp with a display of valuable furs was fitted up in the window and the cub was turned loose to give an air of veri-tude to the picture. Appetite got the best of the cub, however,
and after he had satisfied his hunger or proven the furs indigestible, he chewed and clawed up many dollars worth.

The Arcadia district has a graded school, doing fine work, now, let the Farley district, the Heath district, and the Lone Oak district, vote a graded school, and incorporate a two or four years high school course, and then 675 children can have all the high school privileges, in reach of their homes so they can walk and go to school without going six and eight miles, or boarding away from home where they cannot have mother's influence, paying several times more than tuition will ever be.

So much for the district graded school, give them to us by the dozens, and we will turn out young men and women who will be an honor to the county, and a pleasure to their parents.

Donaldson one of the organizers, orga-

progress of prohibition the past year has had its influence upon the railway world, until practically every railway system in the United States
demands that its employees be temperate."Some call the railway systems the largest temperance societies in the world," she added, and cited the recent action of the northwestern railroad men, when 25,000 signed the pledge.The report of the department on scientific temperance instruction by Mrs. E. S. Davis, of Wisconsin, declared that "human life and energy
have been increased during the last three decades through careful teaching in many schools of the scientific truth as it relates to the problem of how to live."That human life and energy might be much more increased there can be no doubt in every school room in the nation the truth were taught that alcohol and tobacco dwarf the physical development and decrease immu-

The Villain Still Pursued Her.

Channing Pollock elates a certain melodrama, produced a few years ago on Fourteenth street, as containing the busiest and most inconsistent villain ever created.

In the first act, he tied the beautiful heroine to a railroad track just as the train was due. In the second, he lured her into an old house, locked her in an upper room and set the place on fire. In the third, he strangled her under a buzz saw and set the machinery in motion. In the fourth, he tore the planking out of the Brooklyn Bridge, so that her automobile plunged through to the ragged floor below.

In the fifth act he started to make love to her. She shrank from him.

"Why do you fear me, Nellie?" he asked.—Success Magazine."

MODERN HAIR DRESSING

has played havoc with the tresses of the fair sex, and druggists everywhere comment on the fact that they are selling large quantities of sage for making the old fashioned "sage tea," such as was used by our grandmothers for promoting the growth of their hair and restoring its natural color. The demand for this well-known herb for this purpose has been so great that one manufacturer has taken advantage of the fact, and has placed on the market an ideal "sage tea," containing sulphur, a valuable remedy for dandruff and scalp rashes and irritations. This preparation, while called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, is sold by all leading druggists for 50 cents and $1 a bottle, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

In the history of fire insurance in America, a large majority of the fire insurance companies organized have failed or retired from business. To be insured in companies like Weil's, that have been in business a hundred years and will be in business a hundred years from now, costs no more than to be insured in one that may go out of business next week.

COUNTRY'S CROPS WORTH BILLIONS

BANKERS' ESTIMATES, BASED ON EXPERTS' REPORTS.

Greatly Increased Cotton Yield Is Expected to Increase Foreign Prestige.

CREDIT IS TO BE IMPROVED

New York, Nov. 16.—The recent meetings of the national monetary commission and the bankers' monetary commission were not an opportune moment, since the members were able to scrutinize the statistics sent from Washington on the day after election, which are practically the final reports that tell of the harvests of last summer and of the early fall.

And the meeting of men who have gained prominence in banking and financial circles has given abundant opportunity to base opinion as to the effect of these crops upon industrial, commercial and financial conditions in the year 1911.

Having authoritative reports from Washington telling of the aggregate of the harvests, the bankers who were in this city on Thursday, Friday and Saturday were able in comparing notes and opinions to form a fair estimate of what the reflex movement, namely, that which is illustrated by the conversion of the crops into cash or credit, and the utilization of this cash or credit for business needs, would be.

For instance, one of the more prominent men identified with finance and banking, with an emphatic gesture said:

"We cannot fully realize at present what a corn crop of 3,122,000,000 bushels really means. It is easy enough to take pencil and paper and figure that if this crop can be marketed at 60 cents a bushel, it is to yield in the United States some millions over a billion, eight hundred millions. But we can say with confidence that no small portion of this money will become available as new capital and we shall need it all."

The figures themselves are beyond the power of the human mind fully to grasp, excepting by comparison. The really startling feature of these crops, one which staggers the imagination, is that found in the reports of other agricultural products. The dealers in foreign exchange say that the cotton crop probably will create in Europe credit in favor of the United States of not far from six hundred millions.

There is a superb crop of hay and few people realize how great the money value is of the humble hay crop. Probably we shall export no great amount of hay, for the domestic demand presumably will be fully up to the supply. One of the estimates heard is that the hay crop will be found to have a money value of about six hundred million dollars. Wheat, oats and other grains have done well and oats are harvesting a record crop.

The bankers are of the opinion that an estimate of nine billion dollars as a money reward for the harvests of the summer and fall is not excessive and is most likely to be as under than an over estimate.

William C. Brown, president of the New York Central, and James J. Hill, the creator of the Great Northern system, will be likely to bad in these figures some proof that

SHE QUITS

But it Was a Hard Pull
It is hard to believe that coffee will put a person in such condition as it has done to this Ohio woman. She tells her own story.

"I did not believe coffee caused my trouble, and I frequently said I liked it so well I would not, and could not, quit drinking it, but I was a miserable sufferer from heart trouble and nervous prostration for four years.

"I was scarcely able to be around, had no energy and did not care for anything. Was emaciated and had a constant pain around my heart until I thought I could not endure it.

"Frequently I had nervous chills and the least excitement would drive sleep away, and any little noise would upset me terribly. I was gradually getting worse until finally one time it came over me and I asked myself what's the use of being sick all the time and buying medicine so that I could indulge myself in coffee?"

"So I thought I would see if I could quit drinking coffee and got some Postum to help me quit. I made it strictly according to directions and I want to tell you, that change was the greatest step in my life. It was easy to quit coffee because I had the Postum which I now like better than the old coffee.

"One by one the old troubles left, until now I am in splendid health, nerves steady, heart all right, and the pain all gone. Never have any more nervous chills, don't take any medicine, can do all my housework and have done a great deal besides."

HANDS CRACKED AND PEELED

Tried Many Remedies but Grew Worse
—Impossible to Do Housework
—Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

"About six years ago my hands began to crack and peel. I tried many remedies, but they grew worse all the time. At last they became so bad that it was impossible for me to do my housework. If I put my hands in water, I was in agony; if I tried to wash them, the heat caused intense pain. I consulted a doctor, but without the least satisfaction. After about a year of this suffering, I got my first relief when I tried Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. After using this for a week I found my hands so much better that I began to feel much better, the desquamation began to heal up and stop running, and in a little while my hands were cured by using only one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment. I am very thankful to say that I have had no return of the skin disease since. I shall not mind if you will publish this so that others may know of Cuticura. Mrs. M. M. Drew, 23 Danforth St., Jamaica Plain, Mass., April 20, 1910."

For twenty years Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have afforded speedy relief to tens of thousands of skin-tortured and disfigured sufferers from eczema, rashes, hives, irritations and chafing. Cuticura is the great bringer of comfort and peace to distressed households when all else failed.

Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the entire world. Peter Drug & Chem. Corp., 80-82 Main Street, New York. $1.00 for 32-page Cuticura Book, "How to Care for and Treat the Skin and Hair."

Recent warnings made by them have had some effect.

Both of these men appealed last year earnestly to the American farmers, urging higher cultivation and a more economic and systematic method of sowing, growing and harvesting. Mr. Hill going so far as to say that American agriculture each year should produce crops of the money value of at least fifteen billions, and President Taft, pleading the same cause, but taking another line of argument, warning the American farmers that from statistics in his possession he was justified in saying that unless the American farmers produced more the time was near at hand when no ships would leave America ports for other nations carrying any freight but manufactured products. That is to say, the exports of American agricultural products would cease.

Following the success which attended the plan to have the Indiana state convention nominate a Democratic candidate for United States senator, the friends of Congressman James are said to be behind a similar plan for the Kentucky Democrats.

The arguments will be made in favor of this proposition that it comes nearer in the end, expressing the wishes of the majority of the people of the state than could any other plan, unless it be the election of a United States senator direct. This, of course, is impossible at present.

Precedent shows, however, that the will of the people is not binding on Democratic legislators. Governor Beckman was nominated for senator in a state primary, but enough

Democrats in the legislature repudiated the obligation imposed to elect a Republican senator.

"While the friends of Congressman Otto James have been keeping it very quiet, it is known that such a plan is seriously under consideration. This proposition, naturally, will arouse an avalanche of opposition.

Mr. James' friends, however, will insist that it is the Democratic plan that it makes it possible for the people, in advance of an election for senator, to express their will at the polls, even though indirectly, and that it was tried with much success in Indiana. Senator Paynter and his supporters, presumably, will oppose the project vigorously. One argument against the proposition already being heard is that it would tend to confuse the gubernatorial and other state races with the senatorial.

Others May Enter Race.

"Many who express the opinion that former Governor J. C. W. Beckman will yet be brought into the fight for the senatorial especially if former Senator McCreary is elected governor, are pointing out that a nomination by the state convention

in June would close the bars too

early in the senatorial race, and that it would not be right to deprive those from entering who might, after the election of the legislature, want to try their easier into the ring. Not only Governor Beckman, but John C.

C. Mayo, of Palmetto, and others, continue to be mentioned as senatorial possibilities."

"Marriage," said the serious man,

"is an education in itself." "Yes,"

commented old Grouch, "it teaches

you what not to do after you've done it."—Boston Transcript.

The election of officers was held this morning and resulted as follows for the ensuing year:

Dr. E. Y. Mullins, re-elected president; vice presidents, President Arthur Yeager, Georgetown College; A. Gathill, Williamsburg, and G. W. Norton, of Louisville; A. Y. Ford, of Louisville, treasurer, and W. E. Mitchell, of Pembroke, secretary.

The report of the education society shows $488,207.83 expended for Baptist education in Kentucky in four years. Seventy-five thousand dollars is being raised for the Baptist Seminary, at Richmond in 1906, at the meeting of the general association.

This will make a grand total of $563,000 for Baptist education in Kentucky expended since the organization of the education society at Richmond in 1906, at the meeting of the general association.

Three hundred and fifty messengers are in attendance, and the indications are for a very successful meeting.

Big Hats in France.

Women's big hats are giving much concern to railroads in France. The companies wish to raise the tariff

for shipping them, and they applied to the minister of public works for permission to do so. The public official is in a quandary, because he appreciates the mobility of fashion.

If he makes a rule it must stand for a year, whereas, he says, the fashion in hats in France may change overnight.

The trouble is that a few dozen hat

boxes are of inconsiderable weight,

but they leave no room in a car for anything else. Their fragility makes them a further inconvenience, and now the railroads complain that they are losing money in shipping hat

boxes.—Exchange.

TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC

It is with a great deal of pleasure that we take this opportunity of advising our patrons and friends that on or about November 10, the firm of Knowles Brothers will open its new automobile garage and mechanical repair shop in its recently constructed building between Fourth and Fifth streets on Jefferson street. The new building is equipped with all the latest devices for the handling of all automobile work with the greatest facility and we are sure that our friends will find that, by giving us their continued patronage, their confidence will be well placed and they will be given a service which in point of excellence of workmanship and material is not to be equalled in this section of the state. The new building is practically completed, the concrete floor, 135x85 feet, having been laid during the past week. A first-class steam heating plant will be installed, which will keep the building at a uniform temperature throughout the entire year, thereby preventing the spoiling by over-heating or under-heating of the many delicate connections known to the automobile mechanic. The building is fittingly equipped with two wide entrances, the doors measuring twelve feet in width and of sufficient size to permit the entry into the building of the largest touring machines now on the market.

This firm has enjoyed an unusual patronage since its inception a little over a year ago. On September 6, 1900, in a little building on South Third street, Michael Knowles and his four sons, Messrs. Bert, Carl, Arthur and Victor Knowles, received their first automobile repair work. They were not novices in the mechanical repair lines, however, Mr. Michael Knowles having enjoyed a splendid reputation as a first-class machinist for the past fifty-six years, having learned his trade, which includes all manner of in-the-working, in the old country. Since that time the business has grown steadily until the Third street quarters have grown too small to accommodate even the major portion of the demand for first-class machine work.

Besides the usual machinery necessary to the operation of a first-class automobile repair shop, the new quarters are to be equipped with sufficient outfit to handle any outside machine work which may demand the attention of the firm. Automobile supplies of every nature will be kept on hand at all times, making it possible to secure repair parts quickly, reliably and cheaply whenever needed. The garage feature of the firm's business will be developed as broadly as possible, and it will be but a matter of time before Knowles Brothers will have as admirable a line of limousines, runabouts and touring cars, besides the usual taxicabs, as any automobile garage in the state of Kentucky.

We sincerely appreciate the aid that the public of Paducah has given us in the past in the enlarging of our scope of work, and trust that our efforts to supply the city with a first-class garage, with five experienced automobile mechanics as well as the members of the firm ever ready to accept orders, will be given what we consider merited recognition. Outside of Louisville, we feel that we can justly boast of having the largest and most up-to-date automobile repair and machine shop in the state. Thanking you for your past patronage and a continuation of same, we remain,

Respectfully,

Knowles Bros.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS IN SESSION

POSTPONES ACTION ON OVERHANGING SIGNS.

Orders Illinois Central to Improve Roadbed on First and Clay Streets.

CITIZENS WANT ARC LIGHTS.

A short session of the board of public works was held last night at the city hall with only the routine business before the board. President Richard Rudy was absent, being one of the few times that he has missed attending the meeting of the board. Mr. Flint Lack, who presided as president pro tem and Secretary Louis Kolb were present.

The Illinois Central railroad was notified to improve the condition of its roadbed on First street between Jefferson street and Broadway. Also on Clay street between Eighth and Ninth streets. The present condition of the tracks makes it unpleasant riding to cross the tracks.

The question of permitting the wooden signs to remain over the sidewalks was postponed until the next meeting of the board. E. E. Bell, street inspector, is investigating the number of signs up. The request of citizens in the vicinity of Twenty-first and Clark streets for a plank walk was referred to the street inspector.

The requests of citizens for arc lights to be placed at a number of street intersections were deferred until the new engine is installed at the light plant.

W. H. Force, superintendent, and Mr. F. E. Lack were authorized to purchase the necessary belts needed for the light plant when the new engine is installed.

The board recommended that the general council increase the salary of A. Frank, sewer inspector, to $75 a month.

Princeton, Ky., Nov. 16.—(Special) The funeral and burial of the Rev. R. W. Morehead, 76 years old, one of the oldest Baptist preachers in western Kentucky took place yesterday afternoon with burial in Penitrope. The Rev. Mr. Morehead was pastor of the Baptist church and has been a resident of Princeton for 35 years. He was well known all over western Kentucky. Sunday he was in his normal health and attended church, but Monday night he was stricken and died quickly. For several years he has been ill of Bright's disease. During the Civil war he was chaplain in the Third Kentucky regiment of cavalry in Henry Leavel's company. He was believed in Princeton, and for his funeral a number of business houses closed. The Rev. T. E. Hickey conducted the funeral.

UNUSUAL STUNT IS PERFORMED BY HOUSEBOY

Turning a complete back somersault from a one story window and alighting like a cat, Luke Edwards, 25 years old, the colored house boy for Mr. H. C. Rhodes, at 817 North Seventh street, lives to tell the tale with every bone intact. Edwards was washing a window on the north side of the residence yesterday afternoon and leaping back to far he lost his balance and pitched downward. In some unexplainable manner he managed to do a circus stunt in the course of the fall and alighted on the ground, 20 feet below, on hands and feet. His ankles and wrists were badly sprained and one wrist dislocated but no bones were broken. Dr. Vernon Myhre was called and bound his injuries. He will be disabled for several days. His physician declares he was fortunate in not breaking his neck.
